ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my sincere thanks to my thematic paper advisor, Assoc. Prof. Sooksan Kantabutra for providing guidance, supportive and constant encouragement throughout this research.

I am obliged to all of my colleagues who became part of this thematic paper as interviewees for this research paper. I do believe that this paper can be a case study for any further cases in any company. This paper was gathering all the information about employees' job satisfaction which could be beneficial for HR department of this company to realize on many issues.

Lastly, I would like to thank all my family and friends for all the support you have shown me through this very intense academic year.

ABSTRACT

The objective of this thematic paper is to find how does leadership style affect employee job satisfaction, and also finding other factors which could affect people's job satisfaction in the IT company. This research was using an in-depth interview with employees who have been working in this company for at least 6 months by open-ended questions and let them share their experience as much as they could. Two main theoretical frameworks that are applied in this paper are transformational leadership and Maslow's hierarchy of needs. For data validity, this paper will be providing an interview script and set them in a working analytical framework, and categorize them into answer theme. During the interview, we have used the probing questions technique, observation, and extra interview to ensure all interviewees providing all the true information. In conclusion, this paper provided what are the main factor and leadership style of their boss which reduce the job satisfaction of employees.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

1.1 Introduction

Nowadays, many companies comprehend that employees' job satisfaction became one of the most important issues of the company. It is the main issue that the Human Resources department is always needed to concern about. Employees normally expect to be a well responsible person in their career path. The main purpose of their work is to finish all tasks in the to-do-list and achieve their KPI target. There were some tasks that employees couldn't finish individually, they would need some help from team members as well as guiding or decision making by a leader or manager. Many tasks can't be finished on time or did not follow the schedule planned because of delays in decision making. Sometimes the leader did not indicate which direction should an employee go even we all had a discussion. In some cases, it happened because of miscommunication and in some cases because of a lack of communication. The leader might already answer team members, but they thought it was just an idea not a final decision yet, this is an example of miscommunication. Lack of communication might occur as well, for example, the leader didn't express what is in his/her mind, so employees didn't know what he/she was thinking. Sometimes they just express their feeling by gestures like nodding or put thumbs up which those means he/she accept your opinion and allow the team to go to that direction. Those behaviors might also come from the personal type of that particular leader who likes to act in different ways.

1.2 Problem Statement and Research Objectives

“How do leadership style and the motivation affect employee's job satisfaction”

The purpose of this paper is to research employees of an IT company with the question of how does leadership style affects an employee's job satisfaction? According to my experiences of working here for 6 years, I and my colleagues have faced some kind of this situation before and I have ever talked with them about this issue as well. We were faced with the unknown direction of our leader and we couldn't summarize his final selection then end up with an unfinished task. This sometimes causes us under high pressure of working as we couldn't follow the timeline that we planed. Moreover, some task disappears along the way and we realized it when few times passed by.

1.3 Research question

What are the factors that affect an employee's job satisfaction?

How do they affect?

The first chapter mentioned about introduction of this thematic paper, the problem statement, and the research questions. The next chapter will be about the literature review explaining the framework that will be applied in this research paper.

CHAPTER II

LITERATURE REVIEW

To make business drive successfully, there should be a person who leads the team of a company, that person we can call him or her as a leader. Leadership plays an important role in every company. They would be the one who finalizes the direction that company would go. Employees are an important resource that leaders have to manage, they are an important part of the company. The management style of a leader will surely affect the job satisfaction of employees.

To understand more about the relationship between leadership style and job satisfaction, this chapter is providing review literature about leadership style, motivation, and job satisfaction. The author was gathering all important information and theory from articles, books, and journals.

2.1 Transformational Leadership

Leadership is the ability of the one who can motivate or guide over someone to work out to achieve the same goals while a leader is someone who performs or provide leadership (Manoppo, 2020).

Burns (1978) generated the theory which we called transforming leadership. This type of leader is focusing on how to motivate and inspire employees to let them provide the best outcome. Transformational leadership is concerning more with morals and ethics by defending the right and pride of subordinates ("Transformational Leadership Theory and Exploring the Perceptions of Diversity Management in Higher Education", 2019). Transformational leadership theory consists of four characters which are

2.1.1 Idealized Influence (II)

When a leader becomes a role model for employees in the team to show action and tasks that need to perform to complete an organizational vision and mission. This kind of action can build trust and respect from followers to leaders. (Kim & Shin, 2020).

2.1.2 Inspirational Motivation (IM)

When a leader is a person who inspires and motivates the team to be confident with the company to move forward to the same goals. The vision from the leader should motivate and inspire the employees by his/her communication of company goals, this can also boost up the energy of followers to develop, put more effort into work as well as create a positive mindset on their ability.

2.1.3 Intellectual Stimulation (IS)

The leader challenge employees by asking questions on their result, encourage them to be creative, and express the idea throughout the working process. When there is any problem occur, the leader must train their team to solve problems wisely by rationality, critical thinking and encourage them to think out of the box.

2.1.4 Individualized consideration (IC)

The leader focusing on employees' individual needs and try to be supporting, training, and guiding member of the team to develop themselves. The leader will provide empathy, respect, and sometimes celebrate a small step of their success to encourage and energize for their self-development.

2.2 Maslow Hierarchy of need and motivation

Fig. 1: The Maslow's hierarchy of needs represented by a pyramid

Maslow's hierarchy of needs or hierarchy of motivation needs is a framework that captures motivation and classifies it into different types. This theory consists of five levels of needs which are physiological needs, safety needs, social needs, self-esteem, and self-actualization.

The first level is physiological needs are a very basic needs of a human being for surviving like food, clothing, shelter, and others. It is physiological needs that are very important and being a biological function (Čížek, 2012). Employees need their basic needs to survive in the workplace, it is the things that company should have for their employees during staying in the workplace like food, drinking water, proper working space including enough income for them to support their life and other essential needs.

The second level is safety needs which are the needs of security and safeguard. It is the safety of both physical and emotional pain. In the case of the career aspect, it is a safe working place, a work contract about job period, insurance during the working period, and a retirement plan.

The third level is social or belonging needs. It is including love, friendship, all kind of relationships, and family. If looking from a career aspect, it could be acceptance and awareness from the team and leader. It is about how do they feel as involved in their job or the position that they are in. The company could build a social need by arranging an activity that encourages people in the same company to participate in the same activity to build their harmony.

The fourth level is self-esteem needs, this is about a person's self-satisfaction like confidence, the achievement of when they think about how others feel when looking at them. For the work aspect, it is job titles, rewards, and goals that they should be able to achieve. Those can boost up the confidence in themselves and the ability to work further.

The topmost level of Maslow's Hierarchy of needs pyramid is self-actualization. This level is focusing on self-realizing potential and own personal development. A leader can help their employee to address this level by letting them have a chance to practice decision-making skills to let them improve on personal development. work contract about job period, insurance during the working period, and retirement plan.

2.3 Job satisfaction

Job satisfaction is one of the most important issues that an organization is trying to study as it causes so many issues such as work performance, turnover rate, burnout of employees, and absenteeism. Job satisfaction means employee work enjoyment or how employees feel with their job in many different aspects of work (Spector, 1997). Luckily some people could find their right job so that a particular job can easily become part of their life seamlessly. Others dislike their work and just need to do it because it is necessary. Job satisfaction is really important as people spend most of their time in the workplace Gupta and Joshi (2008). It is beneficial for an organization if employees are satisfied with their job, as they will have a positive aspect with their work and more likely to motivate them to perform good performance or provide the best service to a customer. (Bontis, Richards & Serenko, 2011). People have usually measured job satisfaction from two perspectives which are affective and cognitive. Affective satisfaction is about the emotions or mood that a person feels with their job. However, cognitive satisfaction is subjective that is based on a rational evaluation of a job and mostly involves objective issues (Khalilzadeh, Del Chiappa, Jafari & Zargham Borujeni, 2013). As (Pantouvakis & Bouranta, 2013) stated that employee job satisfaction can lead to more productivity of work, for example, serve a better service to a customer and most importantly is improve the company to be better or more profitable.

The above information was all the frameworks and theories that I will use in the thematic paper. I also came up with a conceptual framework and proposition for this paper. The next chapter will be the details about research design, methodology, research questions, and some examples of a working analytical framework.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

3.1 Research Design

The purpose of this paper is to study the effect of leadership style on employees' job satisfaction in an IT company. To collect data and information of this thematic paper, the author chose the qualitative research method as this research need an explanation from employees of how they think and feel about their boss and does it affect their job satisfaction overall. This thematic paper design to conduct an interview with 15 selected employees of this IT company and ask open-ended questions to let them explore and express their idea and emotion. The result will show which leadership style the boss is and the feedback employees, as well as employees' job satisfaction of this IT company.

3.2 Data Collection and Methodology

3.2.1 Interview Method

According to the plan, this paper will research by qualitative method, the interview is our main tool to collect the information. From the list of our open-ended questions, the employee will answer a kind of experience sharing, telling a story about their boss, company, and job satisfaction. The questions will lead interviewees to express their feeling by sharing their opinion about their job satisfaction. To get reliable information with real experiences, this paper will interview the only person who has been working in this IT company for at least 6 months which has 15 interviewees in total. During the interview session, the voice of both interviewees and interviewers will be recorded and the author will also make a short note for further analysis. This paper will be gathering all the common information, analyze and provide summarization from an interview from our focus group.

3.3 Research Question

The following interview questions have adapted from the thematic paper of (Kittisinchaikul, 2017), (Chamnprasertkul, 2015), (Silchai, 2017) and (Zhonglv & Wei, 2014)

3. Are you satisfied with your job overall?

4. What are the factors that decrease your job satisfaction?

3.4 Data Validity

To ensure that the interviewee is providing authentic information and reliable, the author used some techniques during the interview session. I chose probing questions which is the technique that asking some similar questions to check interviewees whether they answer their own story or not. Observation is another technique which I chose as because I would like to know more details about their feeling on their own experiences so I would have an additional interview later with some of them in relax time. First an interview room, the interview area will not be held at their working table or the place that anybody can walk past. The interview room would be arranged on another floor separately from their working floor to make them feel more relax and secure to express their real feeling. Before starting an interview session, I will introduce a bit of which kind of questions they will be asked so they can have some time for preparation.

3.5 Data Analysis

The author planned to use a working analytical method to analyze this thematic paper. After finishing all the interview sessions for 15 employees, the author will have a short note, as well as a voice recode for each interviewee. The author will review a short note and listening to voice records, again and again, those are the first two steps for collecting all information. While listening to voice record, also need to code the transcript of each interviewee. The next step is reading through the short note and all the script carefully and group common information that can be used to categorize into a similar theme and put into the spreadsheet as a table.

This chapter was listing interview questions, provided the data validity that this paper has been used, and showing how I collect and analyze the data. The next chapter will be the research finding from all interviewees.

CHAPTER IV

DATA ANALYSIS

This thematic paper is using qualitative research as the main tool, this chapter will show the summarization of overall data which we have collected from 15 chosen interviewees from an IT company. The data were collected from face-to-face interviews only. Those who have interviewed should work at this company for more than 6 months.

4.1 Demographic Data

The demographic of all interviewees can be categorized into the table below. The total number of respondents is 15 persons that consist of 8 (53.33%) males and 7 (46.67%) females. Most of them are in the age range of 25-30-year-old (40%), follow by 33.33 percent is in the age range of 31-40-year-old and the rest is in the age range of 18-24-year-old. For education details, 93.33 percent in the undergraduate level, only one respondent is in high school level.

4.2 Research Finding

The following summarization came from an in-depth interview of 15 employees who have been working in this IT company for more than 6 months. The below information will use for analysis as well.

4.2.1 Transformational Leadership

Idealized Influence (II)

Based on the interview in the topics of idealized influence, All of them respond that their boss is a good role model. They gave an example in a different aspect. Many of them said that he is a good role model in both action and attitude. To summarize, all of the interviewees said a good role model of their boss would affect their job satisfaction.

“My boss is a good role model in discipline, rule of work, and how he is intent on working”

Tob (Network Engineer)

“He is not just only the managing director, but he also understood a work format and all scope of work because he has experience in this field before”

Moo (Network Engineer)

“My boss is a role model in part of a good attitude. For example, about this network market, I thought one day it would be stuck but he looks beyond, and further, he said that innovation is always developing and go further.

F (Administrator)

“Yes, it affects me because I can know from the vision which way, I need to work to support this company. This can make me feel satisfied with this job as I know if I am working correctly”

Happy (Marketing)

“In my opinion, it affects the decision during we are working here as we need to clearly understand the direction of the company as it engages in decision making”

Moo (Network Engineer)

Inspiration Motivation (IM)

According to the interview on the topic of inspiration motivation, there are so many ways that the boss used to motivate and inspire their employees. They are answered in the same way that their boss always talked about the vision of the company since the interview day and start working here. He also keeps on telling in every internal meeting. For the operation department, the boss will set the total sales target for this company and if we all can reach it, the company will arrange abroad outing trip for all employees. For the sales department, they said that the boss will inspire his staff by being a good role model, for example, showing how to present and react with a customer, this makes the sales team want to be like him

“He told me the vision of this company before I started working here and he always keeps telling it”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“Yes, he does since I have an interview before working here, and also in our weekly meeting session and also quarterly meeting, he tries to repeat company vision in every meeting”

Aun (Sales Manager)

“When I was working and going to meet customer together him, he is kind of inspiring me to work by his action. I want to become like him, so I tried to develop myself in many aspects like technical skills and sales skills. He even taught me even how to give name card and make customer impress”

Mhon (Sales)

“I usually get some good words from the boss" which help to motivate him to work”

Tob (network engineer)

“Most of them agree that the motivation and inspiration from the boss can make their work improve. Its affect because we can see a good role model so I'm willing to be like that”

Frank(pre-sales)

“Surely the motivation and inspiration from the boss would affect his work improvement, if there is motivation, there will be some energy push us to reach the goal and also it can be an inspiration as well”

Ex (Business Development)

Due to the last question of this topic, many of them answer that motivation and inspiration create by the boss would affect their job satisfaction. By the way, there is one employee who said that motivation and inspiration from the boss did not affect his job satisfaction much because he thought that motivation and inspiration will come from our internal team.

“I saw him as a role model, I have brought out some point of him which I like and making them be in my style”

Mhon (Sales)

“I think everyone wants to know the expectation of our boss as well as his goals. We all wish to achieve that. Motivation from the boss can encourage me to wake better and having better work performance”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

“For me, job satisfaction came from our team, company society, or support from my boss rather than inspiration and motivation. There was affect less in my opinion”

Ex (Business Development)

Intellectual Stimulation (IS)

Due to the interview on the topic of intellectual stimulation, Every respondent response mentioned that the boss always asks and question the staff during the way they are working, the main purpose is to let them think to work in another different way. Some of them mentioned that the stimulation questions from the boss will let them think beyond and also think differently. Besides, those kind of questions from the boss are helping them to think and improve themselves by having more solution on solving problems, letting them think about another method of solving problems, and also help some of them to be more optimistic towards the problem

“For the marketing field, he will ask how we can attract more customers, he will let us brainstorm what should be the plan" He will ask and let the staff think further”

Happy (Marketing)

“He will question, it is kind of homework for me. As for my duty, I need to follow up with my team and report to him. It is the kind of stimulation which I have got. My boss is looking at a different point of view so he saw in which part I should improve then he will give suggestions”

Aun (Sales manager)

“Those stimulation questions make me think further about how to work in the next step”

Cat (Sales)

“It is a motivation that helps me develop myself or doesn't let me just stay in the same place, we need to walk forward”

Tum (Stock admin)

“Sometimes, I thought that the way I work is already good but when he asks me about another way, so I was trying to search for another new way and my attitude also change”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“It helps us to think of more than one solution for solving any problem. This makes me be able to succeed in work in many different ways”

Moo (Network Engineer)

Intellectual consideration (IC)

According to the interview on the topic of intellectual consideration, most of the sales team were mentioning about their boss is supporting them by prepared the engineering team to support their work. Besides, many of them said the boss is supporting them by letting them work freely and they can submit the requests if they need anything more to support their work. All of them are happy and satisfy with support from their boss as they can work easier and smoother. Some employee was gaining more knowledge from the course which the boss allows her to take as an extra. On the other hand, there is one person from the import/export department who mentioned that she sometimes needs clear feedback from the boss if he like it or not.

“My boss supported me by providing the support team, I felt good as I have a support team who help me, so I didn't feel working alone”

CAT (Sales)

“As I have my new way of thing to present him, he didn't stop me, but he is not involved that much. And he let me work the new way I present, kind of autonomy. By the way, sometimes I also need feedback, is it good or bad? did he want? if he said yes then I will do it for him. But he sometimes keeps silent so I'm not sure if he needs it”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“He supports by didn't dictate what should we work on and how. He gave freedom for me to work”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

“If we don't have a supporter so it was like a student who doesn't have a teacher to guide /teach which way needs to go. So, this way, I have a leader who guides the way”

Cat (Sales)

“As I am in the marketing department, if I do not know how to do some social advertisement after I take the course which supported by my boss, it helps me to know more especially how to work wisely and also how to plan everything”

Happy (Marketing)

Due to the last question which asking if this kind of leadership style are affecting their job satisfaction or not, most of them told that the support would help to develop their work performance as well as their creativity with dear to express their idea.

“if he supports then I must work harder and improve more to make it perfect”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“if we got support from the boss, we can create the work freely according to what we want and wish if he didn't support, it might block some of my ideas. The way he gives freedom, it helps us to create more working method as it will not get block by any bias or afraid of thinking in some idea which we are not sure. We will be dared to think more and do more”

Ex (Business Development)

Due to the last questions of this topic asking if the support from the boss is affecting their job satisfaction, all of them said yes to this question as they thought they will be more satisfy with their job when the boss supported them to do things freely.

From the information above, I would conclude that the style of leadership is affecting employees' job satisfaction because most of them want their boss to be satisfied, and after that, all of them would be satisfactory as well. The below table will be a summarization of an interview according to the transformational leadership framework

Table 4.2 Transformational Leadership Summarization

4.2.2 Maslow's Hierarchy of needs

Physiological Needs

Several factors affect employees' job satisfaction in this IT company. Based on the interview, most employees are not satisfied with their salary rate, some of them mention that it was low than it should be and some of them mentioned that it is not enough for them to survive. On the other hand, 9 employees, or 60% of the total number of interviewees mentioned that their salary rate is not enough to survive and also not reasonable. There were 6 out of 15 interviewees or 40 percent are satisfied with their monthly income and this rate is enough for their survival.

“It is fit enough to survive. But I thought it is not reasonable as I'm responsible for more work if compared to the past. Actually, in the past, work is also overloaded but the boss mightn't know or know it later. I am willing to earn more because I also need to come to work on Saturday”

Ploy (Administrator)

“I thought it is enough to survive but not reasonable. I felt that If I work hard like this in another company, I could get more”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“The salary is not enough to survive. The salary didn't cover my car depreciation because it needs more maintenance”

Mhon (Sales)

“For me, the salary is not enough and not reasonable, I think it was too less. I got the same range as my previous job”

Frank (Pre-Sales)

“The salary rate is reasonable as I understood that salary of the sales position needs to weight from the commission as well. It is rare for any business that a sales position will get a high base salary. It is one strategy to motivate sales to work harder. In my opinion, it is enough to survive but if I could get more then it would be good”

Cat (Sales)

“Salary is enough to survive as the office is not too far from my house, so it is easy for me to travel here. Reasonable”

Moo (Network Engineer)

Safety needs

All of them are satisfied with is the workplace, work environment, work stability. These 3 factors are the important part that affects employees' job satisfaction. Most of them were feeling stable while working in this company and also, they are happy and satisfy with work environment and workplace. There is only one person who has an opinion about nothing is stable. He will always be preparing himself in case there is something urgent happen.

“Not stable because in person I felt that nothing is stable. Not feeling of losing jobs as I will always prepare myself to help choose or have another job that can support me.

Not (Network Engineer)

“Good office and I like the teamwork environment. It was better if comparing with the past”

Tob (Network Engineer)

“I like the environment very much because I work with people in the same generation, which is easy to communicate with, it might be different in solution, but we have the same goal”

Cat (Sales)

“Yes stable, and never feel of losing a job because of background or boss. I felt great the during Covid-19 period, the company didn't decrease my salary”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

“I felt stable and didn't afraid of losing my job. Because I prefer to work in the same place for a long time if there is no problem. I don't want to adapt to a new environment”

F (Administrator)

Belonging needs

According to the questions, all of them are usually having activities such as a company party with their colleagues. Some of them might hang out with their colleagues too often and some of them will attend only when the company was arranging the party. Most of them were satisfying with what the company and the boss support them and they think It was enough. Nevertheless, some of them mentioned that they want more support from the boss about some obstacles in their work.

“For me, not enough support. But there is one case I would think of is when he would complain vendor about the very late claim process”

F (Administrator)

“Not enough yet, sometimes I need his attention, but I understood that he didn't have much time, so it is okay”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“I'm not sure whether he is satisfied with what I'm doing or not. I think that freedom of work might be one kind of support from him”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

“Yes, enough because if I want to take any course extra, he will always allow me to. It is also beneficial for both company and my personal development”

Happy (Marketing)

“Yes, enough but it might because of the gender gap between me and my boss, I didn't familiar with him much”

Cat (Sales)

All of them agreed that their current position, work stability, salary, work environment, working place, relationship with a colleague, and support from the boss are affect their job satisfaction.

“Yes, all those factors are affecting my job satisfaction. For example, activities with a colleague are kind of ice-break, we will have a closer relationship and be able to talk with understanding on each other more”

Ploy (Administrator)

“yes, at first, I focus on salary but if there is another thing support like the type of work, freedom of work, duty, colleagues, the environment can replace that low rate of salary and make it balance. During the COVID-19 period, I was thinking if anything will happen, but this company doesn't make me fear that, so it is okay”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“yes, affect, if there are any of those factors make me feel down so I will feel like this place mightn't suit me. For example, If I'm okay with my jobs but I'm having a problem with colleagues so this will destroy and make me like to change the company”

Happy (Marketing)

“Sure, if I get a good rate of income then it makes us willing to work. Good office and work environment make us easy to communicate with our team and good support from the boss make us develop ourself faster”

Moo (Network Engineer)

“yes, I'm happy to work here. I always felt regret when any member leaves the company. Its show that one of the main factor to stay here is my colleagues”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

Self-esteem needs

According to the interview, Employees of this company are rarely getting praise from their boss. Some of them willing to get praise from the boss to be an encouragement at work. Some of them said they got treat equally but someone said it is not. A person sales department has an opinion that the fairly treat will be depending on the department that you are in. One administrator said because she needs to work on Saturday, so she thought she didn't get treated equally.

“I rarely got praise in front of the boss. It is maybe because he doesn't like to praise. In my opinion, I still didn't have a big success to let him praise maybe”

Cat (Sales)

“I got praise from the boss once in a while, maybe because we are all mature, so praise mightn't be so important. We mostly discuss the solution to each problem”

Aun (Sales Manager)

“I got praise sometimes but rarely. He usually praises an employee at the operation level rather than the management level and I think it's good as it will be an encouragement in work for them. I'm a person in the management team and I'm okay if praise will mostly use with operation level”

Ex (Business Development)

“yes, fair because I have never met a boss who is chilling by sitting and have a meal or talk with employees this much close. He doesn't act differently among management level and general level; he acts the same with everyone”

Happy (Marketing)

“Yes, we got treat equally. For example, everyone acts like colleagues, doesn't separate in the level of employee. We live like a family”

Not (Network Engineer)

“I got not equally treat because the admin position needs to work on Saturday, but I thought it would only need half a day of Sat is enough”

Ploy (Administrator)

“I think not equally treat because I felt like someone is having work overload and it is not fair for them”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“I think not equal, depends on which department company are focusing on. As some department is very important so it should get deep intention from the management level. Moreover, this company doesn't have a manager in every department so for the department that already has a manager he will not focus much but for those departments which are not having a manager/head so he will focus more”

Aun (Sales Manager)

Self-actualization needs

In the interview session, for this topic, I asked them to share challenging experiences while working in this IT company and asked if they can make it a success or not. When I was asking about a chance to get promoted, most of them said no chance to get promoted as the career path of this company is not clear so they do not know where they should get promoted to. Some of them are not sure about their promotion and few of them said they have a chance to get promoted.

“The most challenge would be to deal with the senior person (driver) with who she is cooperating. Sometimes he didn't speak well, it also affects my feeling, but I need to pass through it. I felt successful as she didn't get complaints from the customer”

Ploy (Administrator)

“An online advertisement which I never do before, and I didn't have any knowledge about it as well. I just count on one for online advertisement here in this company, and also didn't have any experience on it. I just have experience with the website. I can pass it because of the support of extra course from my boss that allows me to take a course, this make me know how to set up, proving more technique for me, and I also searching for more information and I felt it hard as I didn't have any experience on this, I even didn't know how I should think about it. Online and offline customers are different, it took many months to let me start purchasing real online advertisements than I have learned while purchase online advertisements, Both Facebook and Google, and I continue studying on google as it is harder than Facebook”

Happy (Marketing)

“Two projects which I like to talk about first, Coding program about scanning ID card for collecting data of ID card on a server then use it for WIFI log in. Now customer and using and installed. Feel okay but not that much as he does not have time to implement further but he felt proud. During that time, he was so stressed and need to go to the hospital. He needs to search and learn more and more about the details of the coding program. He felt proud as he has passed it. The second project is Cumulus project, it is about open networking, it is not normally using by end-user but will be used by internet service providers. He needs to learn more about it”

Tob (Network Engineer)

“There was a case in which I have committed delivery date but when the due date came, goods don't available there. This one is hard to control I understood, it was based on the vendor. I will try to let the customer feel that I'm by his/her side, let them know that I tried to help them as much as I could”

Cat (Sales)

“No, I don't think I have a chance to promote and Where should I promote to. Because I think this company still didn't have a career path so I think I will still not get promote. I will be working in this position but higher in salary, more scope of work, more advance in import. But if this company have a career path then I might get promoted”

Aom (Import/Export Administrator)

“I felt that our boss is not much concerning the name of the position. But I work more at the management level without knowing, I have a chance to look more in the overall picture. But I'm not sure if I have a chance to get promote or not and if I get promoted what should it be”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

In conclusion, most of them agreed that equal treatment, praise from the boss, support from the boss, and promotion are affecting their job satisfaction. By the way, there was only two of them who mentioned that those factors are not affecting them because they didn't focus much on promotion and praise from the boss

“Yes, I think those factors are affecting much on my job satisfaction as they are encouragement in work, enthusiasm, and concept of work”

Not (Network Engineer)

“I believe that everyone wants to reach the same goal and like to get some present for their proud moment. I think it affects job satisfaction”

Beam (Network Sales Project)

“Yes, those factors are effects, for example, if there is promotion, I think my quality of life would be better and more challenges, I prefer the challenge”

Tum (Stock admin)

“I didn't think so as I didn't focus much on it

Tob (Network Engineer)

“Promotion is affected very less on me because of position which I'm already in is high enough for this company, but in case of being treated equally and praise, it would affect as praise can be one of work encouragement”

Aun (sales manager)

4.3 Finding and discussion

According to the research result based on transformational leadership, I could find that most employees agree that their boss characteristics and behavior mostly match with the sub-topic under transformational leadership which are Idealized influence, inspirational motivation, intellectual stimulation, and individual consideration. There was some point like the boss was rarely praise and feedback employees, so they have no idea if the boss satisfies with their task or not. There is another person at the management level who mentioned that his boss didn't set the goal together with the rewards, many times he still didn't clear about that. Furthermore, most interviewees in this IT company agreed that leadership styles are affecting their job satisfaction. This is because, in the end, they want to make their boss satisfy with their performance. Because if the boss satisfies and happy with their work performance, they will feel satisfied and happy as well.

The research also found that if the boss is being a good role model, be able to motivate, stimulate, and bring support would make member in all employees happier and they will be able to transfer good quality of work. Similarly, there are many more factors under Maslow's Hierarchy of needs framework that employees of this company are concerned about and also affects their job satisfaction such as work environment, workplace, rate of salary, promotion, etc. The main problem issue is the salary rate, it is one of the weakest points of this company. According to the interview result, more than 50 percent of interviewees mentioned that the salary rate is not reasonable because based on their tasks, they should get more.

According to the research question, I have answered the research question of this paper. The next chapter will be about the recommendation based on the finding that I have got from this chapter.

CHAPTER V

RECOMMENDATIONS

Based on the finding in the previous chapter, the leader should try to change their reaction towards their employee's performance. It could be some praise or feedback based on their performance on each important job like a big project. In case, if it is really hard for the leader to change, he can let the HR department of the company arrange a yearly or quarterly session that provides a reward to the excellent staff of the year, this would be another way to praise them. This activity would make them feel proud and help encourage them to continue developing their job performance. Moreover, some of the employees mention that they would need feedback on their job performance, the company should set up a yearly job evaluation to let all employees know their level of performance. This way can be another way to push them to develop themselves.

The next recommendation based on management level interview, it is better if the boss can set a goal with rewards to motivate employees effectively to do their task.

Last recommendation based on the big issue on salary rate, the company should make research the average salary of companies in the IT industry. The owner should calculate employee salary based on the research. it will develop employees' basic needs for their job satisfaction.

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION

This research starting from problem recognition about the lack of communication between the boss and employees. Sometimes the communication from the leader is not obvious and did not make a decision. In some cases, employees couldn't go to the further step of work because they are waiting for decision making. And also, in some cases, employees do not notice the reaction of the boss whether he is satisfied with their work or not. That is the reason why this study has been conducted, the main purpose is to find out how leadership style affects an employee's job satisfaction in this IT company.

The research methodology of this paper is in qualitative type by interview method. 15 employees who work at least a year in this company was selected as interviewees. The interview questions were created according to 2 mains frameworks which are transformational leadership and Maslow's hierarchy of needs. Some more questions are asking about their current job satisfaction level or how are there feeling now with their current job and position.

According to the research, I have found that the employees were commenting on 3 main issues, and those will help to fulfill their job satisfaction. Firstly, the boss did not often praise employees when they have done a well-done job, so it also leads to unknowing satisfaction of the boss. They also need job performance feedback because employees do not have an idea whether the boss satisfies with their performance or not. Secondly, more than half of the interviewees did not satisfy with their salary rate, they mentioned that it is not reasonable and some of them said it is not enough for them to survive. Lastly, there are no rewards for each particular big goal, so there is nothing to motivate the team to work towards the same goal.

Based on finding information, I have provided 3 recommendations for this company. First of all, they should set up job evaluations to let employees know their performance level. Secondly, arrange a reward for each particular big goal or project to motivate the team. Thirdly, revise on the salary rate of each employee, it should be based on the salary rate of a company in the same industry.

Does your boss inspire or motivate employees to achieve the same goals? How?	Rarely, not that much as he is not kind of person who set the goal together with the prize, sometimes he set the goal but not talking about the prize but if we reach the goal, we will get the prize. And sometimes the goal have been set , we still didn't reach it , but we get the prize. So me and my team didn't get inform much about prize so I think that there is no motivation. Most of the time,my motivation came from myself not my boss	Business Development	Interviewed			/

So I tried to search for research instead and chose the method that most suitable with this company. This job is still didn't success and I still need to improve on it . 2. IMPORT cooperation : As I'm middle person between vendor and NBTC about asking for test report to apply for import approval document. I can't control both parties and all , I have to find middle way to let them meet on each other. Most difficult if to apply for one model of PELINK brand , test report became an issue and vendor didn't support and cooperate . My boss had feedback and at the end vendor support us. Finally , I completed because of help from my boss. Job Satisfaction
Does praise, fairly treat, work and promotion affect your job satisfaction? How?	yes satisfy , 85-90 percents. Impress most in my boss. I like him since his lifestyle , work path and how he know the thing he want to know deep in details. It is like the life path that I want to grow , the only differentiate is he is more wealthy . Everytime I think I have know about this thing deep in detail but he will know further than me so it is kind of challenge to let me want to be close with him to learn his mindset. Improvement : performance of people in the company . I think that if all of us looking at the same goal and go together , it would be great for me.	Network Sales Project	Interviewed	/
	satisfy 80-90 percents . Most impress would be freedom of work and I have a chance to be representative of this company to work in an important issue.I felt I got an honour. Things that I wish to improve is clarify in some issue like welfare, some work duty and some department need to increase more people to let the team member didn't get overload in work. Some small internal detail and scope of work.	Business Development	Interviewed	/
